

Why Suboxone? The benefits of Medication Assisted Treatment

By

Susan Buck, LADC

Description of Presentation

This workshop will discuss grief work and how it can be implemented within substance abuse counseling. Grief and loss can be a trigger to relapse. There is a work to overcoming grief and loss – tasks of considering what life was before and what life is after the loss. This workshop considers the work of overcoming grief and loss and how unresolved loss triggers relapse or keeps an individual stuck in addiction.

Objectives

- 1) To learn the tasks of grief work
- 2) To learn more about primary grief and secondary grief.
- 3) Susan Buck, LADC/MH is the founding director of Stages2Change, LLC in Bartlesville, OK. Susan is a licensed therapist and board approved supervisor who offers co-occurring counseling to individuals and families in northeastern Oklahoma. Susan is a professional workshop speaker offering “creative and hands-on” workshops and seminars for clients and professionals.

Susan’s background includes 20+ years serving individuals and families in ministry, chaplaincy and counseling. Susan is a member of ODAPCA, IC&RC and has been a member of the American Association of Christian Counselors.

